

The Scientist Could Be A Creator If Only !!!

I am by divine inspiration saying that there is absolutely nothing anybody, be it a scientist, an inventor, a philosopher or an existentialist has done, could do or wants to do, which does not come from as a result of what God has originally created or given to man from eternity to time as it is written in the book of John 3:27 which says "John answered and said, a man can receive nothing, except it be given him from heaven". Then Psalm 127:1a says "except the Lord build the house, they labour in vain that build it". Zechariah 4:6b also says "not by might, nor by power, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord of hosts". This tells you, you can only make and derive from what God has created. A philosopher, an inventor or scientist can never originally create anything whatsoever of their own, that was not in one way or the other created by God.

For instance, anything whatsoever that is philosophically or technologically made is unarguably and originally created from what is meant to be the earth and the fullness thereof which of course is interpreted as, everything within and without the earth e.g, iron, copper, diamond, gold, silver, petroleum, gas, limestone, timber, crops from any fruit bearing tree, the sea, rivers, lake plus the things inside or outside them, then wind or air also plus the contents inside or outside them. These all, God did create, for man to make and derive from them, what will better improve, meliorate, prosper, develop and advance the course of his life regarding every reason why God created him. As it is written, in Genesis 1:26 "and God said, let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth".

For man to have the dominion over the earth (dust world), over the air (wind world), over the sea (water world) and every living and non-living being within, upon and around them; which interpretatively means the earth and the fullness thereof, as it is written in Psalm 24:1a which says "the earth is the Lord's, and the fullness thereof". So by no sociological reason ascribed to the philosophers, biological and physical knowledge of nature attributed to the scientists or the study of mechanical engineering for an auspicing of industrialization accredited to technologists; will ever, ever and ever made any of them the creator or God in every aspect of life

Some of the reasons are these;

- they can only manufacture or make from what God has created;
- they can never assume to intercept the persistent arrival of every new day to make their own, save as it is being ordained by God;
- they cannot stop anybody from the aging process;
- they don't have what it takes to bring the dead back to life;
- they neither can create any planet which people could inhabit;
- they can create neither sea nor sky of their own;
- they never have the affirmative and vivid knowledge of what the future holds for themselves, not to talk about every other individual neither do they have the definite and precise knowledge and understanding of what happens after, or the life after death, and much more that are not mentioned.

All these put together, prove that they can never be any thing or body, less than human beings. However, if they believe that every artificially synthetic thing is made by them the scientists, philosophers or technologists because they are, it is equally imperative and mandatory for all of them to unarguably and unquestionably submit to believe that, there is one supreme being who created all things, heaven, earth, all planets, known and unknown, seen or unseen, far or near, named or unnamed and all things mortal or immortal, celestial or terrestrial, tangible or intangible, living or non-living, sensitive or non-sensitive, understood or misunderstood, masculine or feminine, productive or unproductive, colour or colourless, height or depth, length or breadth, time and eternity and etcetera.

This is it, because you the philosophers, scientists and technologists at one point in time or the other are, became the same reason why every artificially synthetic thing you manufactured or made also are, of course, this is all the reason likewise, why you are being honoured, respected and held in high esteem. Putting all these into an account of thought, why did you think that God, who created all things, originally far eternally above every artificially synthetic thing you manufactured or made does not deserve an original everlasting respect, honour and worship from every created being or thing, both living and non-living including you and I, whom He created with the person and by the person of His only begotten Son, even the Lord Jesus Christ, our Lord and Saviour and the Saviour of the whole world, through whom all things were created in Jesus mighty name. Till another time on this same platform for more of God's heart beating, touching and timeless messages through the golden pen of the Holy Spirit and ink blood of Jesus Christ altogether in a two-edged sword of the Word of God to every creature. Thank you. Shalom.
